Dan Flavin is a minimalist artist best known for his sculptural installations made of fluorescent light fixtures. He is acknowledged for his mastery of dimensional art dealing with illusionism and dynamism. He is considered one of the inventors of "installation art" as well as minimalism.

His sophisticated use of color and light in architecture has influenced twentieth century art and design.

March 20, 6:30 PM, Granoff Center

James Turrell is best known for his explorations of perception, light, color and space that engage viewers with the limits and wonders of human perception. He considers the sky as his studio, material and canvas.

New York critic Calvin Thompkins writes, "His work is not about light, or a record of light; it is light – the physical presence of light made manifest in sensory form."

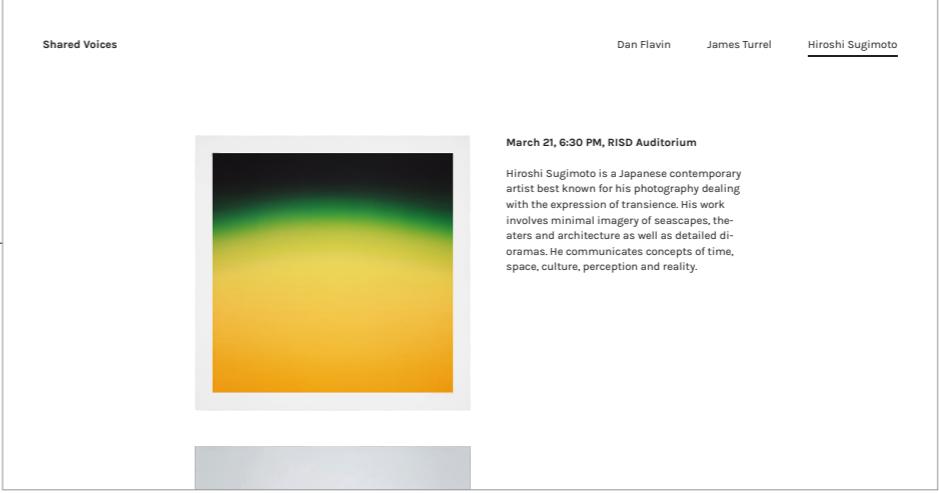

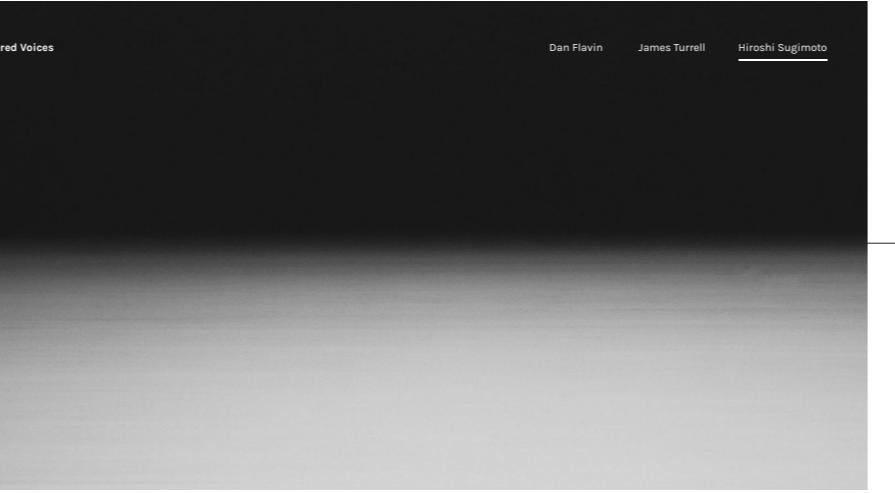

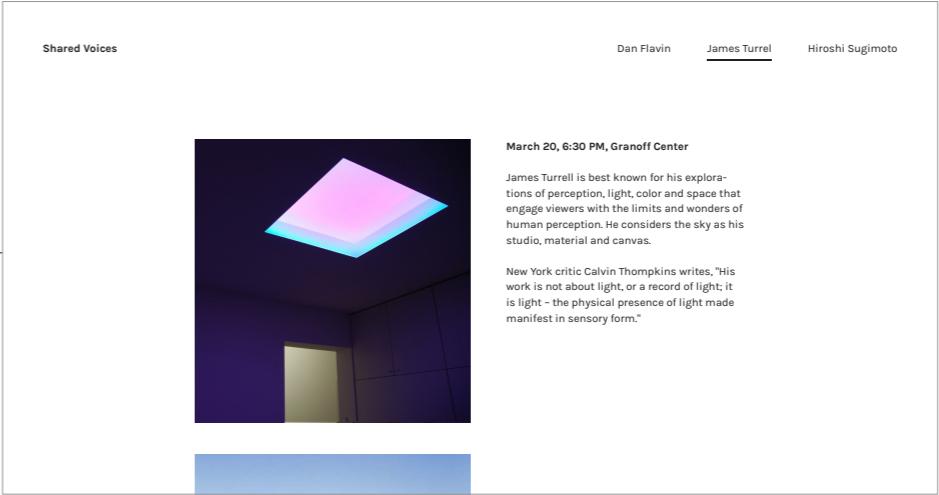

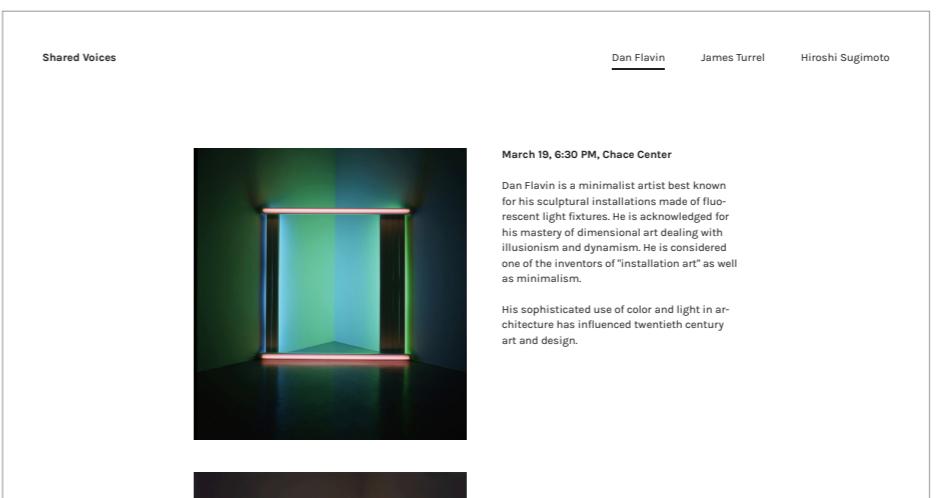

March 21, 6:30 PM, RISD Auditorium

Hiroshi Sugimoto is a Japanese contemporary artist best known for his photography dealing with the expression of transience. His work involves minimal imagery of seascapes, theaters and architecture as well as detailed dioramas. He communicates concepts of time, space, culture, perception and reality.

Time & Environment

Concept

Shared Voices: Time & Environment brings together 3 contemporary artists that explore concepts of light, space, color and perception. The influence artists to consider dynamicism, existence and dimensionality. Collectively, their work has influenced art, design and architecture. The event involves lectures and installations done by each artist and promotes students to consider ways in which these artists can inspire them.
